Dear Joseph,

Although we both belong to different branches within Sons In Retirement I feel that we are brothers in kind as we both enjoy the camaraderie of SIR, the associations with others and contributing to the success of our organization as our interests and abilities will allow us at our age.

The many special friendships that we develop with other members of SIR are extremely important to our well being and longevity and in knowing that we are there to help one another when needed, whether asked or not. This is what makes our members such a special group of men.

Some people light the lives of others that they come in contact with. You are one of these people as evident by being a member of SIR.

It is my sincere pleasure to extend my congratulations to you on your ninetieth birthday!
